Brislington Bulletins is my attempt at a day by day history of the place, commencing in 1066 and at present going up to 1799. Subsequent to publication I have uncovered more bits and pieces and these addenda are the result. The latest volume in the series proper is Number Five, completed in May, 2000.

Addenda to Brislington Bulletins No. 1

1586

Robert Llewellyn of Bristleton named as a debtor in the will of Thomas Emerson, yeoman of Cold Ashton. [Will proved PCC 1586]

1587, October 18

Robert Summers, son of Robert of Brislington, carpenter, apprenticed to Thomas Holden as a baker. [BRO Apprentices]

1588, October 8

John Eyton, son of John Eyton of Bussleton, apprenticed to John Batten, junior, and Mary his wife, as a hooper. [BRO, Bristol Apprentices]

1589/90 January 25

Nicholas Puckslye, son of John Puckslye of Brislington apprenticed to Edward & Mary Langford, as a draper. [BRO, Bristol Apprentices]

1590, August 4

Thomas Whitinge, son of William Whitinge of Brislington apprenticed to William & Jane Howe as a carpenter. [BRO, Bristol Apprentices]

1592, May 30

John Ithell son of Richard Ithell, yeoman of Bussleton apprenticed to John & Elizabeth Tirrell, as a weaver. [BRO, Bristol Apprentices]

Wandering Women, 1566-1600

1566/7, February 12

"A poor woman's child that was delivered at Puxley's house, was christened."

1590/1, February 14

"A child born at Beresbridge of a woman who came thither by chance, baptised. The child was buried the next Thursday, after the woman went."

1592, May 1

"Johan, daughter of a poore woman who was borne at Henry Deane's house, baptised."

1593, May 27

Tymothe, son of a woman from Lapforde's Gate. Born at William Payne's howse, baptised. (NB Lawford's Gate in Old Market Street, Bristol, St Philip & St Jacob's).

1593, June 20

"Mary, daughter of a strange woman. Born at Richard Ithell's howse, baptised." The strange woman "that by her accounts came out of Glousheere" did not survive the birth, and was buried the same day. Nothing further is mentioned of the child.

And wandering men.....

1596/7, March 21

"A certain impotent man which came from whence it is not knowen was buried owt of the howse of Richard Ithell, it was supposed he came from abowt Bradford in Wiltshere, was buried."

1597, August 26

"A poore man that dwelt for some tyme in the Church howse, buried."

Addenda to Brislington Bulletins No. 2

Marriages at Brislington, 1600-1699 were omitted from Brislington Bulletins No. 2. NB. There is a gap between 1640 and 1661 (except for one entry in 1659) due to the English Civil War when church weddings were suspended. Marriages were conducted by a Register, but his records have not survived for Brislington. Marriage entries for other years appear to have been erratic.

1658

Exchange of land in the Westfield between Israel Gleson of Brislington & Rowland Lacy, esquire. [SRO DD/GL/21]

1660

When Sir John Lacy became Lord of the Manor in 1640, copyhold tenants held most of the land. In about 1660, Rowland Lacy his son and heir enfranchised the copyhold lands of the Manor reserving as part consideration for the enfranchisements a small fee in farm rents amounting to £65. 4s.8d per annum, and also of the coal underlying the lands. (Nearby Kingswood at the same time was involved in endless lawsuits concerning its coal deposits.) The following men received grants of such enfranchised lands:

William Crabb
William Baugh
Humphrey Little
George White, senior
Richard Crabb
Benjamin Snacknell
Lawrence Bricker

1661, April 3

Most of Brislington's locally proved wills were destroyed by enemy action during the 2nd World War, but this one is a magnificent survivor in the Somerset Record Office.

Thomas Ithell of Brislington, yeoman, made his will, referring to all his tenements and lands, meadows, cottages lying in the Westend of Brislington with orchard and paddock thereto belonging to his wife Mary during her widowhood. Thereafter to his son Thomas and his heirs, and for want of heirs to son John and his heirs and for want of heirs to son Gyles (etc. down the line) and then to son Joseph. If Thomas survived his mother he was to pay "ffower good pounds apiece of the lawfull money of England to his sisters Mary and Johan, either at 21 or when they married. Also, John was to have a tenement called Brokes in reversion of the said Broke and his daughter; Gyles was to have a tenement called Rawlings held by Priscilla Rawlings, widow, and Dorothy Bayliffe (Probably Bayliss). Joseph was to have a cottage in Lower Bowood. Daughter Mary was to have £40 at 21 and daughter Johan £30 at 21. Mary his wife was to be sole executrix.

Thomas Ithell made his mark, and the will was witnessed by Israel Gleson and George Feare.

(The Westend of Brislington was presumably the area we now know as West Town.)

Thomas Ithell was a prosperous man. The inventory of his chattels, taken by George Feare and William Tibbott amounted to £316. 9s.6d and included:

THE LINDEGAARD LIST

The Lindegaard List is a series of books relating to Family History and Local History in the Bristol area.

The "KINGSWOOD" Series.

The Annals of Kingswood is a catalogue of events during the years shown, and contains details of the lives of many of the Forest people.

The Annals of Kingswood 1725-1749

The Annals of Kingswood 1750-1775

The Annals of Kingswood 1776-1795

The cost of each booklet is £4 plus post and packing of £1 (within the UK) or £3 (abroad).

(Kingswood in this context corresponds to the ancient Kingswood Forest area and incorporates the Parishes of Bitton, Hanham, Oldland, St George (Bristol), St Philip & St Jacob (Bristol), Stapleton, Siston, Wick & Abson, Mangotsfield, Westerleigh, Frampton Cotterell, Yate, Winterbourne. Please note the old Parish of Kingswood near Wotton under Edge is in another part of Gloucestershire and does NOT appear.)

The "BRISLINGTON" Series.

Brislington Bulletins is a catalogue of events during the years shown and contain details of the lives of the local people.

Brislington Bulletins No. 1 1066-1600

Brislington Bulletins No. 2 1601-1699

Brislington Bulletins No. 3 1700-1749

Brislington Bulletins No. 4 1750-1774

The cost of each booklet is £4 . Post & Packing as above.

Brislington is an ancient village/parish on the Somerset side of Bristol and the series is a comprehensive history of the place and its parishioners. If your ancestors come from Brislington it is almost certain someone in your family will be named.

"What a wonderful window into the lives of our Brislington ancestors!"

Ann Carson, NSW, Australia.

The "COALPIT" series

"Killed in a Coalpit" is a catalogue of the fatal accidents in the Kingswood district pits.

"Killed in a Coalpit I" - The Kingswood Pits

"A supplement to Killed in a Coalpit I"

"Killed in a Coalpit II" - The Mendip Pits

"Killed in a Coalpit III" - The Bedminster Pits

The cost of each booklet is £4 plus post and packing £1 (UK) and £3 (abroad) except for the supplement which is £1.50 (50p) (£1.50)

When I began my family history more than 25 years ago, I soon discovered that most of my paternal ancestors worked as coalminers in the Kingswood pits, and several of them were killed at their work. I was both appalled and fascinated and the above series grew from these tragic events.

BLACK History.

"Black Bristolians" - inhabitants of Bristol c1600-1800.

Cost of the above £4 (£1) (£3.50)

When doing other research, I began casually to jot down the names of those black people I was surprised to find mentioned in various sources. I found there was a sizeable minority black population, some slave, some free, living in Bristol. It appeared to me that these Bristolians had been entirely forgotten. The result was this book, written a decade ago, years before Bristol began seriously to address a somewhat ignominious part of its past.

FAMILY Histories

"The PILLINGER family of Kingswood" - Part 1 - from Yatton Keynell to Outer Space! 1660-present.

"The HONOUR family" - from Oxfordshire to Bristol 1600-1945.

"The LINDEGAARD family" - from Denmark to Bristol via Ireland.

"The BUDGETTS of KINGSWOOD HILL" - Grocers and Philanthropists.

Costs available on request.

In Preparation:

The PILLINGER family. I believe all the Pillingers in the World are related. My branch is as above, but I have researched the family in detail in Gloucestershire, Wiltshire and Somerset. Further books to follow.

NAPOLEONIC Wars. Bristol men who served in the Army & Navy.

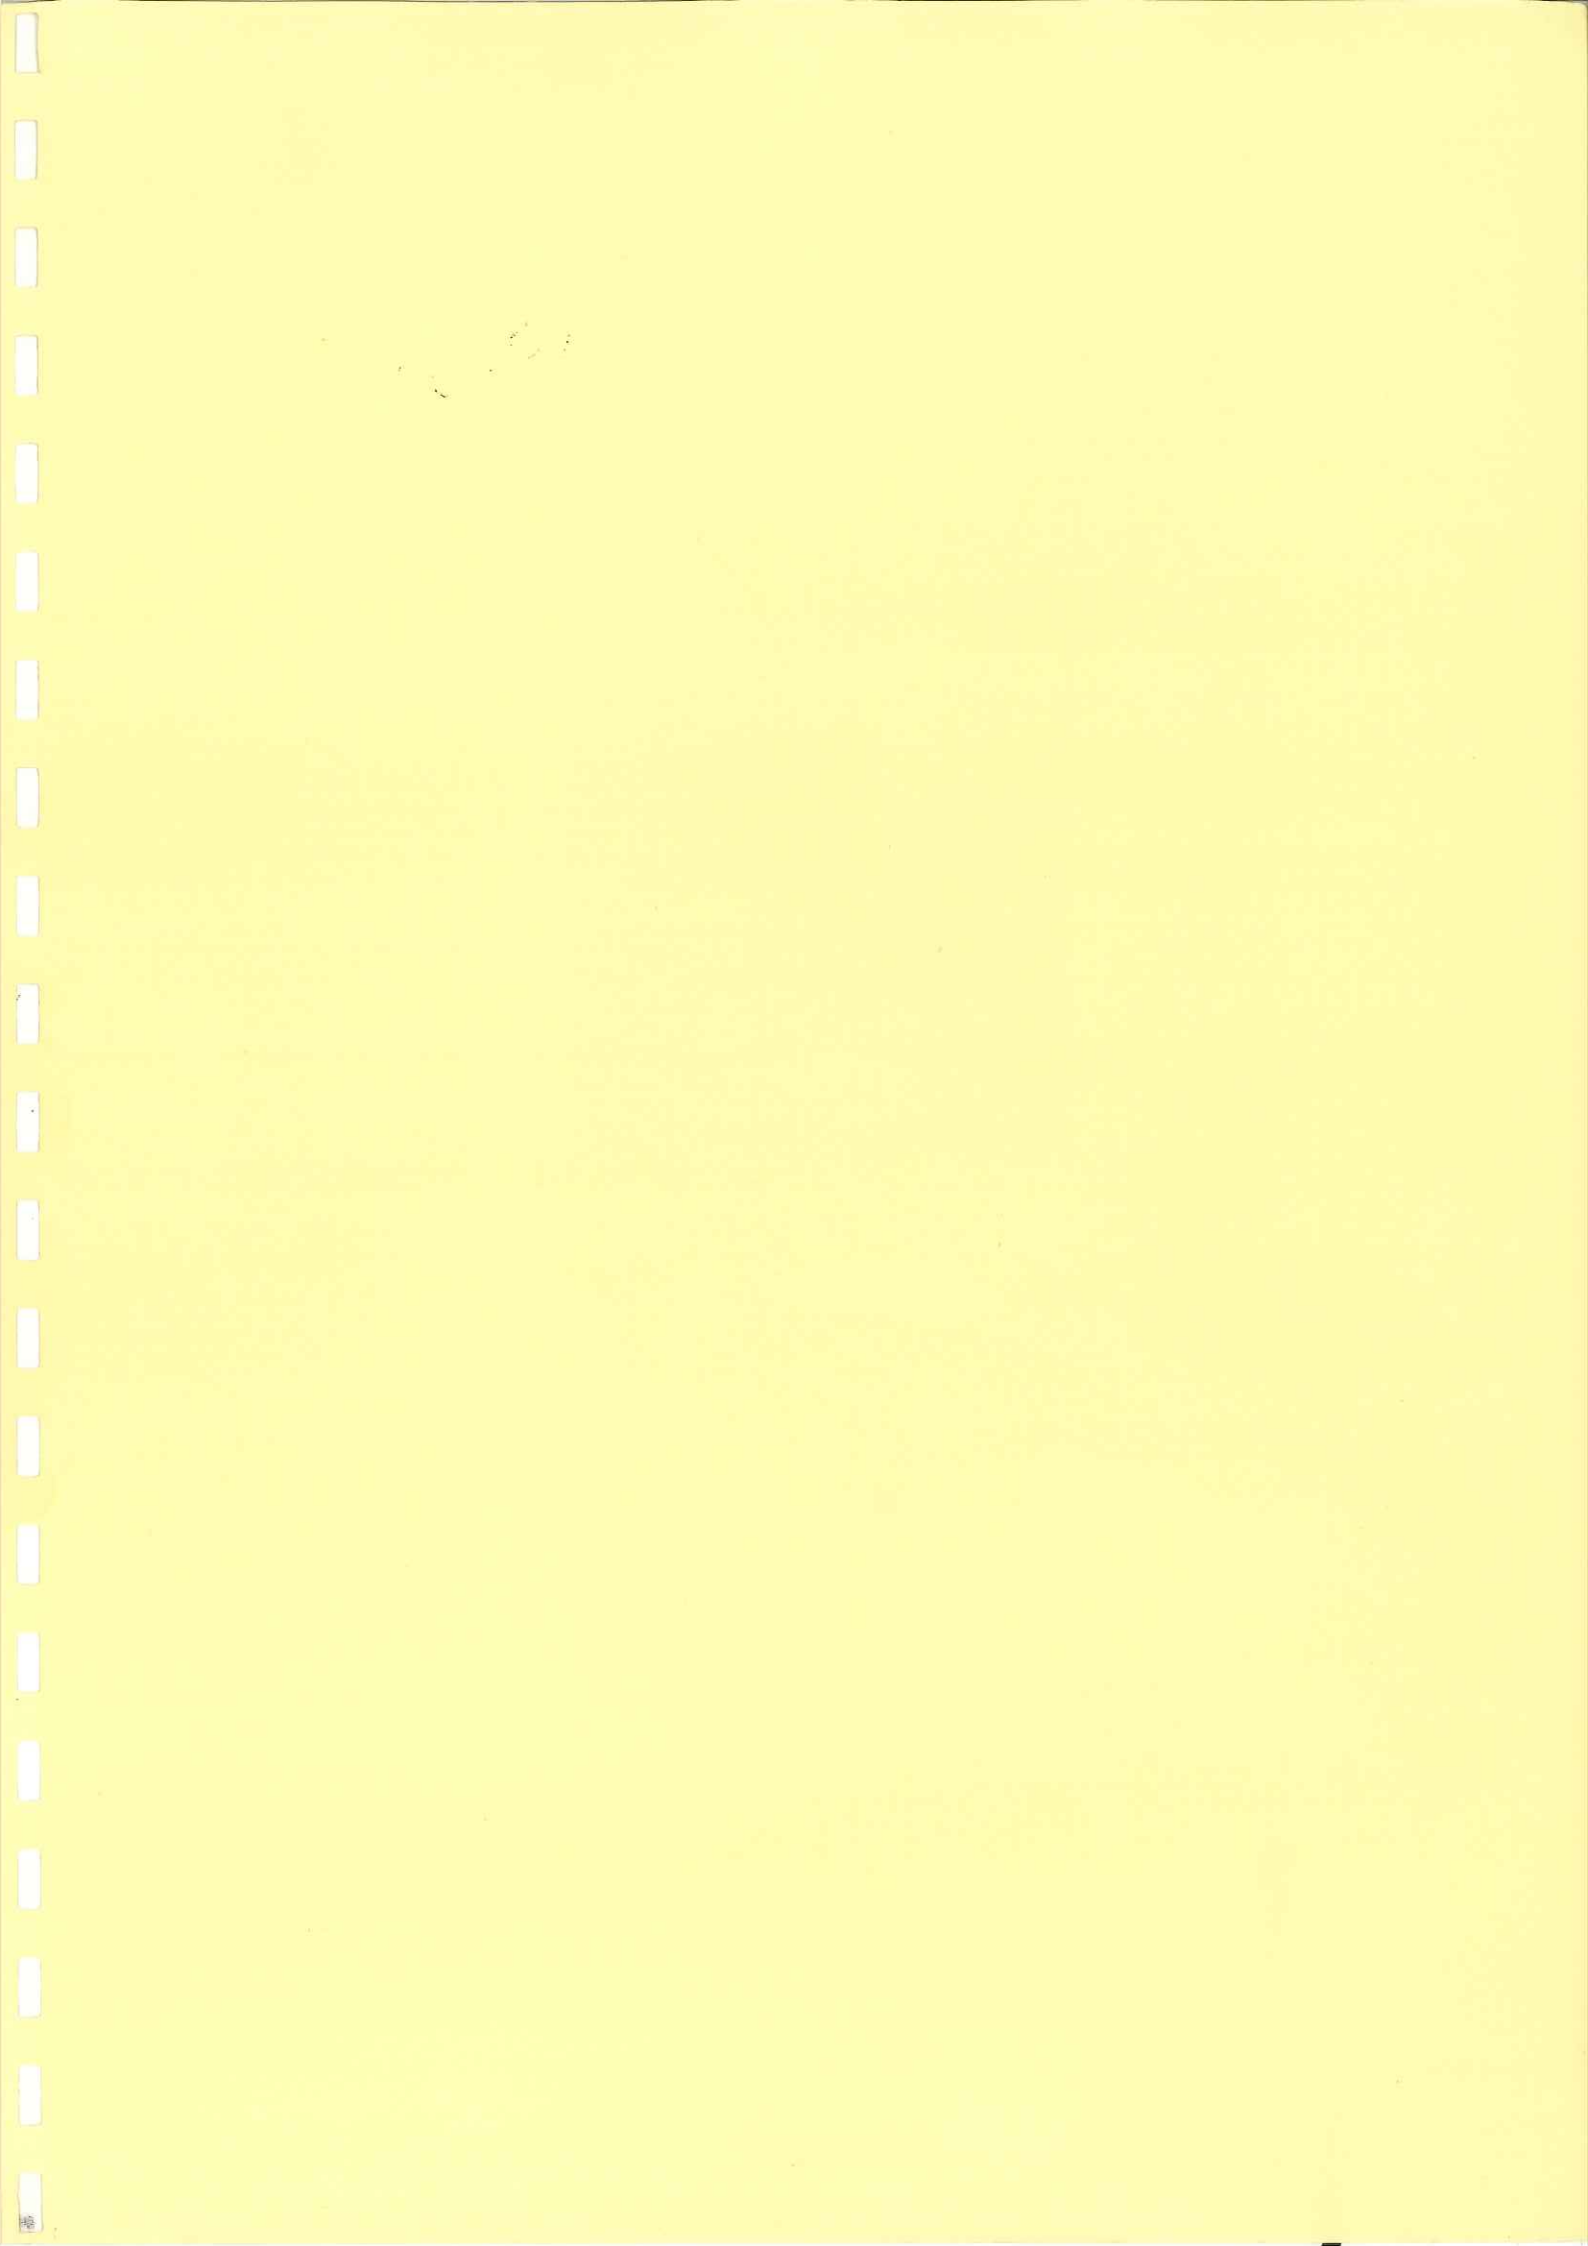

FIRST WORLD WAR. The fallen from Bristol commemorated in memorials in the City and surroundings.

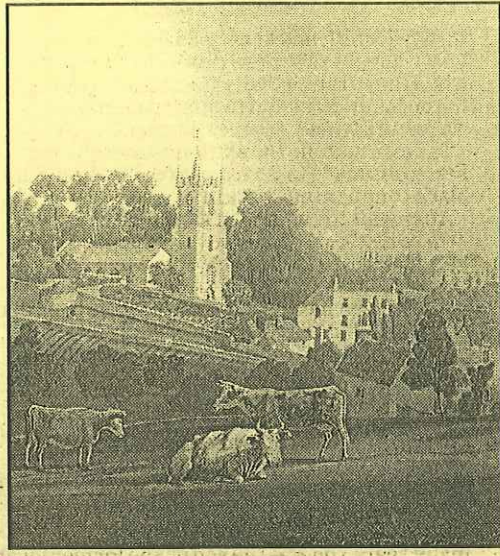

BRISTOL WOMEN. (I know I have neglected them, and most are just as interesting as the men!)

THE KINGSWOOD INDEX:

This is a personal name index which contains many thousands of names with biographical details of people living in the Kingswood (near Bristol) area. (For parishes included, see above, "Kingswood Annals"). The period covered is heavily weighted 1600-1850, but includes some from before and some after. I can look up and list all details of one surname (not exceeding 30 names) for £3 per surname, plus sac or 2 IRCs.
